Loving tributes paid after tragic death of Arran, 13

DEBRA FOX

TRIBUTES have been paid to a budding performer and "inspiring" teenager who died this week.

Arran Tosh, 13, died in the early hours of Saturday morning after being diagnosed with a brain tumour just five days earlier.

Family, friends and teachers have shared their memories of the teenager – who performed with Centre Stage theatre company in Haverhill.

Mum Alison, of Sudbury, said she wants her "angel" to be remembered.

"We always believed we had been sent a wee angel, but he can do many more things from heaven than he could do from down here," she said.

"It is hurtful, and it is painful but we have gained a lot of comfort from all of the support and lovely messages we have received."

Arran visited an optician in Sudbury for a routine appointment on May 31.

After spotting some pressure behind his eyes, the optician booked him in for an MRI scan and further eye test at West Suffolk Hospital on June 2.

Doctors at the hospital discovered a tumour and operated the next day.

Alison, 43, said: "He came round; he was quite sleepy but then there were complications with not being able to remove all of the tumour."

"Because the tumour was slow-growing and had been growing for years he could have been busking, playing football, with his friends or on his own with no family around him and just collapsed."

Arran was put on life support and died in the early hours of Saturday, June 7.

Before being diagnosed, Arran was fundraising for Cancer Research UK and had plans to shave his head next month, if he managed to raise £1,000 in sponsorship.

At the time the Weekly News went to print, Arran's Just Giving page had raised more than £11,000 in donations.

The 13-year-old and his family made regular trips to the pilgrimage destination of Lourdes in France – and Arran had started work on a new project to raise enough money to send a child there.

Along with friends, he had recorded an EP of five songs, which the family hopes to release in the future.

Alison added: "Arran had a lot of different things that he wanted to do – all he lived for was to make people happy."

Jim Morgan, chairman of Centre Stage in Haverhill, remembered the youngster's talent during his performances as Kurt in the Sound of Music and Potiphar in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolour Dreamcoat.

The group dedicated their performances of The Producers, which took place on Saturday at Haverhill Arts Centre, to him.

Mr Morgan said: "Arran had something in him – he was a bit special. He had a great talent for music and acting. We will miss him."

Jacob Simmons, 17, also attended Centre Stage.

He said: "He was funny, kind, immensely talented and always put a smile on everyone's face. He was mature beyond his age and it is so sad that he didn't get the chance to reach his full potential. He made so much of an impact, and I shall miss him so much."

Arran's funeral will take place next Wednesday, June 18, at 11am at St Joseph's, Long Bessels, Hadleigh. The family have requested that everyone wears bright colours or tartan.

No flowers – but donations can be made to Arran's charity fund.

TV programme looks at the work of REACH

THE struggles of a Haverhill family, who have had to use a foodbank to survive, have been featured on a Channel 4 programme.

Tom Twitchett, son Drey and daughter Niomi, 14, who was diagnosed with leukaemia last year, appeared on Breadline Kids on Monday to tell the public their story.

The family were one of three case studies chosen to explore the lives of children living in poverty - but also to show the good work that foodbanks do in local communities.

Tom and his children have visited REACH Community Projects in Haverhill for help with benefits, paying bills and managing debts - as well as food parcels.

Henry Wilson, REACH projects director, said watching the programme was "overwhelming".

"It was incredibly moving, and I felt very humbled just watching it," he said.

"We set up this project years ago without having any idea of the extent of the need for it.

"The programme was incredibly positive for foodbanks which are often seen as quite negative."

Viewers were told that Tom used to work as a gardener in Newmarket, but was forced to give up work to care for Niomi full-time when she became ill.

After leaving his job, Tom fell behind on bill payments and struggled to run his car to take his daughter to Addenbrooke's for regular treatment. There wasn't enough money left to buy food for the family.

REACH was there to give advice and support to any families and individuals, Mr Wilson said, and they would always try to get to the root of the problem.

"When there is a situation like that we will do our utmost to make sure people get the help they need.

"It is the kids that struggle, and they don't get to make any of the decisions."

Jezza Neumann, who directed the programme, praised REACH for their work.

He said: "I was impressed by what I saw. It's not just about the food and the advice they give, it's also an opportunity to see a friendly face, have a chat and a cup of tea.

"A real local hub that provides emotional support and community spirit."

Mr Neumann said the programme did not aim to show the featured locations in a bad light - but highlight the fact that poverty is happening across the "length and breadth of Britain".

"Haverhill is where we found Tom and his family, but there are thousands of families like them across the country. No matter where we go, we will find someone," he said.

Since the programme aired, REACH has received messages of support from the local community and beyond.

The project received a telephone call from Worthing, where someone was interested in helping Tom and his family, and an online donation has been made from someone in Cheshire.

Families from Hull and London were also featured on the programme.

Pixelated Projects looking to set up a base in Haverhill

AN ORGANISATION launching online projects for all ages is looking for contributions to become a charity.

Pixelated Projects, which has volunteers across the UK and beyond, hopes to set up a base in Haverhill and run workshops in the community.

The company works with schools, colleges, universities, youth groups, small businesses, community groups, and fellow non-profit organisations to educate on digital projects, from social media to mobile phone apps.

But if £5,000 is raised the organisation can become a registered charity, and purchase equipment for workshops and training materials.

Leigh Brown, of Pixelated Projects, said: "The long term goal is to create a fully-fledged production studio in Haverhill, that will be used to create our online teaching resources, but also the public will be able to be trained on.

"Within the studio, there will be access to workshops, which are not currently on offer in the town."

Donations can be made online. Visit pixelatedprojects.org for more information or follow @pixelatedprojec on Twitter.

House broken into as woman slept on sofa

A MOTHER was disturbed by an intruder as she slept on the sofa, police have said.

The occupant of a house on Kirtling Place, Haverhill, was disturbed at around 2.30am on Monday thinking her son had returned home.

She turned towards the doorway to see a person standing in the hallway.

The woman then spoke out, thinking the intruder was her son, at which point the person ran towards the kitchen and out of the back door.

Then the occupant discovered that the offender had entered her home through a rear window.

While inside, they had stolen a set of keys and a handbag.

If anyone has any information about this incident, contact Bury St Edmunds CID on 101.

You can also contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Three choices on offer for town's first triathlon

DEBRA FOX

ATHLETES will have the chance to compete in another inaugural event in Haverhill this autumn.

The town's first triathlon – HaverTri – is set to take place at the leisure centre on October 5.

Three distances will be on offer, so there is a course to suit anyone from novices to veterans.

Jack Tappin, race director and triathlete, said the introduction of shorter distances has made the event "more accessible".

He said: "I got into triathlons having been a runner and have really enjoyed the sport myself."

"I've seen how successful it has become as a sport and how popular, with Stowmarket and Cambridge both now having triathlons, as more and more people take up the sport."

The event is being sponsored by Haverhill Research Park, and will also be supported by Suffolk County councillors Tony Brown, Julian Flood and Anne Gower.

Any money raised from the triathlon will be going towards the Scouts and Guides' new hut fund.

Cllr Gower, who will support the event through her locality budget, said:

"It's a pleasure to be able to help bring forward another new venture for Haverhill in the shape of a triathlon."

"I know everyone will get behind this and enjoy the event which will raise the profile of Haverhill in a very positive way."

The Super Sprint, for ages 13 plus, costs £30 and is a 200m swim, an 8k cycle and a 2.4k run.

The Sprint, for those aged 15 and over, costs £35 and is a 400m swim, a 20k cycle and a 5k run.

The Sprint+, suitable for those 17 and above and relay team entries, is a 600m swim, a 40k cycle and a 10k run.

An application for a licence has already been sent off to the British Triathlon Federation.

The event is also being supported by Stylize Display Graphics, Tesco Haverhill, Icin Water, Castle Manor Academy, Ignite Radio, OS Communications, KP Landscaping, Perform Sports Therapy and Aerocycles.

Mr Tappin also launched Haverhill's first half marathon and 10k run this year. The events took place in May and raised money for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Visit entrycentral.com/havertri to enter. You can also collect forms from Haverhill Arts centre, or the leisure centre. If you would like to volunteer on the day, contact Mr Tappin on haverhill@gmail.com

Man, 94, faces court sentencing

A 94-YEAR-OLD man is due to be sentenced today for five historic sex offences on a girl under 14.

Frederick Smith, who lives in a care home in Haverhill, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court last week.

Smith, of Place Court Care Home, Camps Road, is charged with four offences of indecent assault on a girl aged under 14 and one offence of gross indecency with a girl under 14.

The 94-year-old pleaded guilty to all offences on Thursday, June 5.

The offences, which all relate to one victim, were committed in Haverhill between 1972 and 1982.

Judge David Goodin last week granted Smith bail until his court appearance today.

Mrs Green has been using an e-cigarette for the last eight weeks. She previously smoked between 20 and 25 cigarettes a day, for 40 years.

She added: "There isn't anything in this town with the products I am selling – all of the liquids are UK made."

RELAY: Pupils from Kedington Primary Academy taking part in their baton relay.

CHILDREN took to the streets of Kedington for their own Queen's Baton Relay this week.

The pupils, from Kedington Primary Academy, used the relay to launch their "international week" celebration, which takes place every year.

This year, the theme is the Commonwealth Games.

Sarah Kirby, a part-time teacher at the school, organised the relay.

She said: "The children ran around a route that we had marked out in the village – for the rest of the week we have all sorts of activities and games going on."

DEBRA FOX

More than 200 pupils took part in Monday's relay and are now gearing up for a week of international education.

Each country taking part in the Commonwealth Games is being represented by up to three children – who have been greeting each other in their country's native language.

A class mix-up, where pupils from all year groups sat in classes together, has also taken place.

Later in the week, a "parent partnership" day is scheduled, where families will learn alongside their children, and a sports day, with as many games as possible, is on the agenda too – weather permitting.

The school also plans to launch a World Cup topic towards the end of the week, to coincide with the tournament.

Karen Sheargold, deputy headteacher, said: "It is tremendous fun and it's an opportunity for the children to widen their international outlook and to involve our families in the community in all we do here at Kedington."

Town gets golden bus service

PASSENGERS travelling from Haverhill to Cambridge now have a new range of buses for their trip.

The Service 13, which has been the subject of many complaints in the past, has joined a select number of routes in becoming a Gold branded service.

The Gold buses will operate every 15 minutes at peak times, every 30 minutes Monday to Saturday daytime, and hourly throughout most of Sunday.

Andy Campbell, managing director for Stagecoach East, said: "The Gold service further enhances the quality of public transport in Cambridgeshire."

The fleet of "high specification" buses, which operate on bespoke routes, have cost the company £2 million. They have extra leg room, leather-covered seats and free Wi-Fi for passengers.

The buses also have environmentally friendly engines, with lower emissions than standard Stagecoach buses.

Town is in line for 'outreach' health services

DEBRA FOX

HAVERHILL is set to benefit from new "outreach services" linked to West Suffolk Hospital.

At a health meeting held in the town last Friday, the hospital's new strategy for providing care across the area was unveiled.

A number of "outreach clinics" offering different services will be opened across West Suffolk – but a particular need has been identified for them in Haverhill because of its position on the Cambridgeshire border.

Dr Ed Garratt, chief operating officer for West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) was at the meeting.

He said: "The purpose of the meeting was to see how we can make Haverhill a healthier place and improve the level of services within the town. "West Suffolk Hospital is looking, as part of its future strategy, to increase the number of outreach clinics.

"They are also looking to offer more choice to patients in towns like Haverhill so people have the choice of going to Addenbrooke's or West Suffolk Hospital."

Jon Green, chief operating officer at West Suffolk NHS Foundation Trust, said that dermatology, dietetics, midwifery, rheumatology and cardiology clinics already run in Haverhill.

The sessions are popular and the hospital is looking at other services that could be provided in nearby towns, Mr Green added.

Matthew Hancock, West Suffolk's MP, also attended the meeting. He is calling for an X-ray machine to be given to the town.

An electrocardiogram (ECG) machine has already been confirmed – but the location is currently undecided.

Mr Hancock said: "I want to ensure the best possible healthcare for the people of Haverhill.

"This is why the next step must be to get an X-ray machine. I have called for one before and I will continue to fight tirelessly to see an X-ray machine. It is a fair and reasonable demand to want better health facilities and equipment for the community in the town."

West Suffolk CCG has also given £500,000 to the East of England Ambulance Service Trust to improve "frontline services".

This will include recruiting new paramedics and buying a new fleet of ambulances to operate in the area, Dr Garratt added.

The meeting was also attended by county councillors Tony Brown, Julian Flood and Anne Gower and practice managers from Haverhill surgeries.

Stakeholders have been attending meetings regularly after health service concerns were raised by Cllr Brown earlier in the year.

He said: "Everyone got a lot out of the meeting, and it's worthwhile meeting up on a regular basis so we can improve on the problems with Haverhill's health care."

A new health directory is also going to be delivered to every home in Haverhill in October, Cllr Brown added.

Other points raised included getting a defibrillator for Haverhill Health Centre and how to deal with patients who regularly miss appointments.

Don't ban dogs – ban councillors

FAR from banning dogs from the High Street I wish to call for a ban on councillors in the High Street. It seems that not one of these buffoons can step into the street without wishing to ban something, it was cars, it is now dogs. Who knows what will be next? Children perhaps; people under 1 metre tall; people over 1.5 metres tall; people wearing blue jumpers. The possibilities are endless. To avoid future pointless conversations I submit that banning councillors from the High Street will be a major step forward in improving Haverhill. The councillors can then stand for Europe, where, if elected, they can work their way up to the commission and there they can exercise their predilections to ban whatever, pass whatever petty laws they wish, and generally do whatever they like with no concerns for democracy or cost or any of that awkward stuff that used to get in the way of wise officials making sure we did what we were told for our own good. Perhaps Gordon Cox can make a name for himself and grab the attentions of the apparatchiks in Brussels by demanding the implementation of a Codex structure within Haverhill as per the Napoleonic structure, thereby making everything illegal at a stroke unless it is specifically allowed by such luminaries and wise men as himself. Whilst, of course, it would not happen, it would show him to be a man of the ‘right sort’ in EU terms.

Our street is clean
THERE are responsible dog owners in Haverhill and as usual there are a few that aren't that spoil it for others by not picking up after their dogs. Our dog is part of our family and enjoys nothing better than a trip into town with us. I think I am a sensible enough adult to ensure my dog doesn't have cigarette ash dropped on her or get her trodden on and I don't need the local council to tell me how to ensure I keep my dog safe. A lot of people stop us to pet the dog even though we don't know them and have a chat with us when normally they wouldn't bother to stop and speak to you at all. Yes there are grass areas where people are not bothering to be responsible however on the whole I think our High Street is very clean compared to some. I walk my dog every morning around town and I haven't yet spotted any “dog fouling” in the street; broken glass now and then, the odd beer can, yes. Spot checks on those out with dogs in town to ensure that they have the necessary poo bags on them would be a more effective solution. If you are out with a dog and you don't have any bags with you, then the intention surely is, you won't be bothering to pick up. Haverhill doesn't have much to offer as it is by the way of choice for shopping opportunities for those that don't have cars.

Ban dog owners and there will be even less people supporting our local shops.
Vivien Taite
Address supplied

This idea is absurd
I DO not understand Cllr Gordon Cox's ‘idea’ and where he may elicit support for it. Dogs have been domesticated for thousands of years, and unless they are rabid, or vicious pose no real danger to the town. What is dangerous, however, is another legal straitjacket that prevents ordinary people from living their lives. I think the idea is absurd and more energy could be better spent in keeping the dogs and their owners in the town and trying to keep the High Street as dynamic as possible. I am not sure about the councillor's pretext that he is sympathetic to dogs. He may very well be, yet he is missing a crucial idea and that people want less intrusive legislation. People are more than capable of going about their lives without another piece of prescriptive banning by petty governance, and I am sure that the dogs would agree.
Dino Conticini
Haverhill

His agenda is wrong
PERSONALLY I think Gordon Cox has lost the plot with that idea, I'm not a dog owner but what a silly request, how would they police it? It wouldn't be the local bobby. There are more serious issues to be looking at in the High Street, illegal parking for one – it amazes me how so many people just don't care where they park. I work in the High Street and every day people park illegally, on double yellows, by keep clear signs outside Boots. A lot of drivers just don't care where they park. The other serious one is the drug taking / dealing, and drinking that goes on on a regular basis in the High Street and especially around the church. I think these should be on the councillor's agenda and not trying to ban dogs
Steve Charles
Hopton Rose
Haverhill

There is no mess!
IN the 50 years we have lived in Haverhill we probably have only seen dog mess in the High Street twice. If we had a dog warden, which we don't, then they could sort out irresponsible owners. As for Gordon Cox, what hasn't this man got an opinion on? We would rather he was banned from the High Street, than dogs.
Wendy Kingston
Haverhill

Was this a joke?
I READ with interest the story on banning dogs from Haverhill High Street, my initial thought was this was an April fools joke but obviously not, seeing as we are in June. I have lived in Haverhill for the past 10 years and I don't ever recall seeing dog mess outside any shops. I cannot understand the logic; we are trying to bring more people into the town shops but by banning dogs there will be a percentage of people who just won't visit the town at all. Anyone who has had a dog will know how pleasant it is on a nice day to have a wander with your dog and end up walking into the town to browse through the market or pop into a couple of shops. What is so wrong with this, it works OK in France and Italy. We should be encouraging all people to visit the town, dog or no dog. I would have thought priority should be trying to get some decent shops into the town otherwise there will be no High Street shops to visit.

Ridiculous suggestion
REGARDING the story in Haverhill Weekly News about banning dogs from the High Street. Being an owner of two dogs I would like to say this is ridiculous. The times we take our dogs to town they are welcome in places and if they have an accident – which is not very often – it is picked up. We do not see any mess in the High Street by dogs – only people, ie rubbish. Mr Cox also said about taking dogs to the many open spaces. Well he needs to visit these because there is dog mess every where. This is Mr Cox getting his five minutes of fame again – next he will be asking for a ban on people stopping to pass the time of day with other people.

No more houses
WITH regard to your front page article in this week's Haverhill Weekly News, we certainly disagree with this development taking place as we feel firstly that this was not going to happen as soon as within the next five years or at all. Secondly, we do not have the facilities for the existing homes so why build more? Surely this town needs more facilities such as shops, health facilities and better road infrastructure before considering building more houses.
Mr and Mrs Basire
Haverhill

Here we go again . . .
WHEN I moved into this area 24 years ago it was made clear to me that the land to the rear of my bungalow had planning permission for further dwellings to be erected, and a bypass built. Over the years this seemed to be resurrected several more times and planning permission was renewed. It would appear to have happened again. What concerns me is the future of the ancient bridleway that runs from Great Wrating to Withersfield Road. This crosses the site before turning to run along the rear of the houses in Ganwick and Moneypiece Closes, and is shown clearly on all Ordnance Survey maps dating back to the first in 1805. It is also shown on the town map I have in front of me. This bridleway, which was re-classified down to a footpath by the local authority some years ago, has been a public right of way for centuries, but is now so overgrown through neglect that it is not possible to walk along it, much less drive a horse and cart. The trees, some of them dead, that have been allowed to grow unhindered along this bridleway now tower menacingly over the houses. On the two occasions I know of that council workmen have arrived to inspect them, they took one look, muttered something I would not like to repeat, and went away again. Clearing the trees and scrub along this route will now cost a great deal of money. It is clear that the council is aware of what needs to be done, but it looks to me as though they hope that if they ignore it for long enough it will go away.

Green space all gone
ALL the scenery we had in Haverhill has gone, and it's nothing but houses. There's not much left now. All we have is East Town Park, and what used to be called The Castle Pond. During my younger days we would go on nature walks there – but there's nothing like that now. For the younger generation there's nothing really – and I think they should stop building, because it's getting full of houses. One of my carers is even thinking of putting her house up for sale because they can't see anything out of their window but rooftops. What little bit of green space we had has all been taken.

It's so hard to see GP!
I NEVER would have thought booking a doctor's appointment at Christmas Maltings Surgery would be so difficult! All I wanted to do was to see a GP to get some more of my pills. It would be OK if I could get them on repeat prescription, but I need regular blood pressure checks. It's totally disgraceful how much bother it took to get an appointment. First when I tried to book, I got told I had to ring at the beginning of the week as I can only book appointments a week in advance. So I rang Monday and got told I had to ring at 08.00 in the morning to book for the week in case any cancellations had come up, other than that they wouldn't book me in! So I waited until the next day and did that but then got told there was no spaces available and had to wait at least three weeks to have a routine appointment! My pills would have run out by then and so I could not wait three weeks. It ended up with me booking an emergency appointment that day. This is totally outrageous, I shouldn't have to book an emergency appointment for a simple thing. Plus only being able to book an appointment a week in advance is not helpful as we don't all have flexible jobs to do that.

Test your town knowledge at quiz

RESIDENTS are being invited to test their knowledge of the town they love with the latest Haverhill quiz.

As part of the Haverhill Festival, the quiz is taking place on Sunday from 7.30pm at the Arts Centre.

The quiz master is inviting teams of four people to answer questions about their town – as well as trying their luck with a range of other brain teasers.

The quiz is free of charge, and teams just need to apply via the Arts Centre box office.

This year's festival launches today, with events running all the way until July 6.

Nature walks, theatre and musical events are all taking place in this year's programme, with the ever popular street festival scheduled for July 5 in Haverhill High Street.

This year's festival will end with a memorial concert for the late Cllr Les Ager, who died last year. Some of his favoured pieces of music will dominate the Festival Proms event, at the Old Independent Church.

Ambassadors work to clean up streets

DEBRA FOX

CARING members of the community have been helping to keep their town tidy.

Haverhill's Community Ambassadors took to the streets on Saturday for a litter pick around the School Lane area.

The mammoth task, which saw volunteers collect rubbish from the rugby club, duck pond, park and surrounding areas, saw the public get behind their ambassadors and lend a hand.

Among them was Cllr Roger André, town mayor and ONE Haverhill board member.

He said: "It was great to see so many people turn out to help in this Volunteer's Week. Some problems we can solve ourselves and this is one of them. Let's hope more people will take up the challenge."

The community ambassador scheme was launched in February by ONE Haverhill, following last year's community budget consultation.

Participants told ONE Haverhill that they would like to become the eyes and ears of the streets, to help and keep their community maintained.

More facilities for the town's young people were also requested, and plans are under way for a youth hub, which will move into the old magistrates' court and police station, on Camps

HARD WORK: Haverhill's Community Ambassadors and members of the public.

Road.

The ambassador scheme is run and supported by Community Action Suffolk.

Elaine Hewes, of Community Action Suffolk, said: "It was a fantastic turn out. We managed to fill many sacks with rubbish before the rain came."

"Thank you to everyone who came along including students from Castle Manor Academy eco committee, Cllr Roger André, Cllr Anne Gower and Cllr Maureen Byrne. Plus the young people who saw us working and volunteered to help – a great community effort."

Members of the community ambassador project can carry out minor repairs, if needed, with support from Elaine. Equipment is provided by Suffolk County Council.

Man caught with heroin avoids jail

A DRUG user with an "appalling" criminal record has avoided a jail sentence after being caught carrying £270 worth of heroin.

Police arrested Michael Hall, 43, on January 18 when they pulled over a car travelling down Arbury Road, Cambridge, and discovered he was carrying 18 wraps of heroin, Cambridge Crown Court heard.

Hall, of Downs Place, Haverhill, was a passenger in the car which sped off when originally flagged down by officers, but eventually stopped after police gave chase.

Officers found he was in possession of 18 wraps of heroin, with the street value of £270, as well as a small quantity of buprenorphine, a heroin substitute used by addicts to treat their dependence on the drug. Marti Blair, prosecuting, told.

LIZZY BUCHAN

Hall pleaded guilty to two counts of possession of illegal drugs on Tuesday.

The court also heard that Hall had 35 convictions for 75 offences, dating back over 24 years.

His latest offence also breached a year-long conditional discharge imposed by West Suffolk Magistrates court on June 18, 2013, for two charges of shoplifting.

Melanie Benn, mitigating, said Hall had entered a guilty plea at the earliest opportunity and had seen the error of his ways.

She said: "He recognises that he has now got to change his life."

"He has a 15-year-old daughter with whom he continues to have a relationship."

"He knows he has to do this to be a better father and this is the way to do it."

Sentencing him, Judge Hawkesworth said: "You have an appalling record and it is a clear that it is caused almost entirely by your addiction to both alcohol and drugs over a long period of time."

"You have finally been put into a position where there is some hope at the end of the day and it is going to require an enormous effort by you if that hope is going to come through."

"I want to try to help you break that cycle."

Judge Hawkesworth sentenced Hall to two years in prison, suspended for 18 months.

He was also made subject to a supervision order for 18 months, and an 18-month drug rehabilitation requirement.

Bikes stolen from Haverhill property during break-in

STOLEN: The white Carrera racing bike and black Avalanche mountain bike were among the items taken.

THREE bikes have been stolen following a burglary in Haverhill.

A men's white Carrera racing bike, a men's black Avalanche mountain bike and a men's black, red and silver Dunlop mountain bike were among items taken from a shed at a property in Falklands Road.

The bikes, along with various tools including a chainsaw, were stolen between 8pm on May 5 and May 8.

Police have released pictures of two of the bikes, in the hope someone has spotted them in town recently, or recognises them. The pictures are of the Carrera and the Avalanche.

If anyone has seen the bikes recently or has any information about the burglary contact Sgt Gary Miller at Haverhill Police Station on 101.

Plan for 1,000 homes gets the green light

DEBRA FOX

MAJOR plans, which could bring more than 1,000 new homes to Haverhill, have been praised by the borough's member for planning.

An application for growth in the north-west of the town was approved last week by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Development Control Committee.

The plans encompass more than 1,000 new homes, community facilities and a relief road, designed to ease congestion on the rest of the town's routes.

Despite reservations, the application was passed 10 to 1 – and it has been praised by Cllr Terry Clements, portfolio holder for planning and transport.

He said: "This scheme could deliver a fantastic, long-awaited relief road that everyone in Haverhill has been pushing for, a new primary school, affordable housing, health facilities as well as a retail area, community facilities and open space.

"The expansion of the town will also see it become a focus point for developing new employment opportunities. It is great news."

Speaking at the meeting last week, David Henry, agent at Savills, said the project is a "£15 to £16 million" investment with the relief road expected to cost around £7.3 million alone.

One of the main concerns expressed by councillors was the delivery of the relief road – which is required to be finished five years after building work begins on the new homes. Many spoke up, asking why it could not be built sooner.

Calls were also made for other necessary infrastructure to be put in place before the new homes, to prevent extra strain on existing facilities.

Cllr Trevor Beckwith was the only councillor to vote in opposition of the plans.

Speaking at the meeting he said: "I am not going to vote for this, because there is no plan for traffic impact. Now is the time to stand up for what we believe in."

Family friendly football at Haverhill Arts Centre

FOOTBALL fans can watch the summer's action for free at Haverhill Arts Centre.

England's games against Uruguay and Costa Rica will be shown on the centre's cinema screen later this month.

The final, taking place on July 13, will also be broadcast.

The showings are free and drinks and snacks will be available from the bar.

Nick Keeble, Arts and Leisure Manager, said: "This is World Cup football for all the family. Bring the children, the cousins, the grandparents, but maybe leave the dog at home."

"Let's get behind the Three Lions. This could be England's year."

Get ready for next Centre Stage show

A HAVERHILL theatre group will put on a youth performance of Footloose later this year.

The show, performed by the younger members of Centre Stage, will be at Haverhill Arts Centre from October 21 to October 25.

Performers can range from current Year 7s, who must be in Year 8 by the time of the show, up to 21.

Singthroughs are taking place today and June 18 at Samuel Ward Academy between 7.30pm and 9pm.

Audition dates, also at Samuel Ward, are on June 26 and July 2 between 7.30pm and 9pm.

Visit centrestage.shinehere.net for more information about the group.

Ready for reading challenge

A LITERACY campaign taking place in the school holidays is in need of volunteers.

The Summer Reading Challenge, which is being run by Suffolk Libraries, aims to keep children reading throughout their six-week break.

In 2013, more than 7,000 youngsters took part across the county, with almost 2,400 of them signing up to their local library too.

The theme for this year is Mythical Maze – and participants will be encouraged to read their way around a labyrinth that introduces mythical creatures.

They will also collect stickers for each character they meet when completing their reading challenges.

The challenge, hailed by parents as a "brilliant incentive to keep children reading" starts in July.

A child, aged 7, who has taken part in a previous reading challenge said: "I thought the Summer Reading Challenge was amazing because you get to read all sorts of books and there are fun activities to do."

Budding volunteers are being encouraged to contact their local library to sign up.

More than 800,000 children took part in last year's Summer Reading Challenge nationwide.

SUPPORT: The donation being handed over at the Burton Centre, Haverhill.

Centre boosted by donation

AN INNOVATIVE hospice centre received a generous donation in its first week of opening.

The St Nicholas Hospice Care outreach centre, which opened in Haverhill on May 31, is celebrating after a local business gave £700.

HID Global, which operates in Haverhill Business Park, handed over the money last week.

Carol Long, material planner, was part of the team that visited the centre, on Camps Road, for a tour.

She said: "I think everybody knows somebody who will benefit from the work St Nicholas Hospice Care does. I personally can relate to this."

"Visiting the centre was a real learning curve for me. I always associated the work of a hospice solely with end of life care, but there are so many different services available to the community.

"The building itself is really lovely – every room has a calm feeling and even the café is furnished to give a homely feeling. A truly inspiring visit."

The staff were shown around by Abby Mayes, corporate fundraiser and Mandy Wilson, Burton Centre manager.

The centre is currently open from Monday to Friday, between 9am and 5pm and offers a range of services to patients with life-shortening illnesses and their families.

Some of the services on offer include day therapies, family support, community nursing and medical treatment.

There is also a community room and café, which is open until 12.30pm every day for public use – but there are no inpatient services.

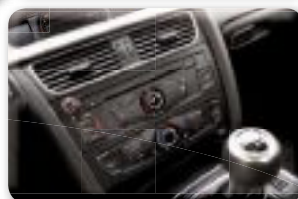

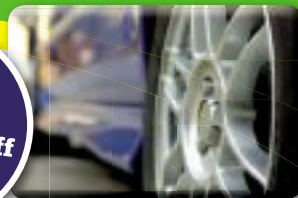

The centre's opening means that patients living in and around Haverhill do not have to travel to the main hospice site in Bury St Edmunds for treatment.

Abby said: "Thank you to HID Global for donating these funds to the hospice. We are keen that this centre helps people in the local community, so it is heart-warming to receive such early support from one of the town's businesses."

Scheme to foster love of reading

PARENTS and carers across Haverhill are being encouraged to celebrate National Bookstart Week with their children.

The weeklong celebration, which started on Monday, encourages youngsters to find a love of reading by receiving free books from the charity Booktrust.

Louise Cohen, a mum-of-two from Haverhill, is behind the scheme because of the impact reading had on her twins Amy and Harry, now 6.

She said: "I was lucky. I grew up around lots of books and was a good reader at school. But my husband had a very different experience.

"He doesn't remember having any books as a child and as a result he really struggled with his reading at school.

"He was really determined for our children to not be like that, to make sure they had books and grew up confident reading."

Amy and Harry have developed a daily reading routine with their school books and library books before bed.

The free book packs, supplied by Bookstart, helped with their skills and enjoyment. The children also attended events at their local library.

Louise said: "Because we have been so keen on reading and ensuring our children read every night now with their school books and library books Amy and Harry are two of the top children in their year for reading abilities.

"I think it's really important for parents to take the initiative in reading with their children every day and not just relying on the school system."

More than 4,000 events are taking place in libraries, nurseries and bookshops across the country as part of the initiative.

For more information visit bookstart.org.uk. The event will end on June 15.

'Don't drink and drive, during the World Cup'

SUFFOLK Roadsafe Partnership is urging residents to stay in control of their drinking during the World Cup.

Later kick-off times for the tournament, which is taking place in Brazil, may lead to people being over the alcohol limit the following morning when driving.

Residents are being advised of the dangers of being over the limit and are being given information to avoid drink driving.

Officers will be conducting road checks throughout the World Cup, which starts this week, including first thing in the morning.

Breath-tests will be carried out on any person stopped for a motoring offence.

Chief Inspector Chris Spinks, head of roads policing in Suffolk and Norfolk, said: "Watching football is a very social event, whether it is going to the pub or round to a friend's house.

"Either way there can be more of a temptation for those driving to have a drink, but we would warn people not to do so."

More than 700 licensed premises in Suffolk have put up posters to support the campaign with the message that 'Life Goes on the Morning After' even after the football has finished.

CAST YOUR VOTE:
Inspector Peter Ferrie.

Still time to submit priorities to Safer Neighbourhood Team

NEW policing priorities will be put into action next week.

The next meeting of Haverhill's Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) is taking place on Monday and residents will get the chance to discuss what they think should become the new focus.

If you cannot attend the meeting, you can submit your own ideas online, or vote via the SNT website on the night. A live stream of the meeting will also be broadcast.

At the last meeting, held in March, the public voted for SNT officers to tackle illegal drug taking and dealing, parking issues at schools and gathering intelligence on "drug-fuelled" assaults.

At Monday's meeting, an update will be given by Inspector Peter Ferrie on action taken over the last three months.

Visit haverhillvote.co.uk to submit your priorities and to watch the live stream on the night.

Can you help the rugby club?

MEMBERS of the local community are being sought to help with a DIY project.

Haverhill Rugby Club is hosting a weekend-long project to improve the facilities on offer at the club.

The club, on School Lane, is taking part in NatWest RugbyForce, a national programme encouraging community clubs to become stronger businesses.

A range of jobs will be on offer for volunteers of all ages to get involved in. The club will also be providing refreshments, hosting a barbecue and showing the New Zealand versus England game.

DEBRA FOX

Stuart Lancaster, England Head Coach and NatWest RugbyForce ambassador, said: "Rugby clubs are at the heart of their local communities and we know that they need support to sustain themselves, not only for the next couple of seasons but also for the years to come.

"Many England players started their careers at these clubs and NatWest RugbyForce will help clubs to help themselves by giving them a long-term vision and enabling them to think like a business to attract and retain members."

More than 400 clubs across the country took part in the first year of the programme in 2013. Participating clubs in this year's scheme have attended a workshop with NatWest RugbyForce, and drawn up a project plan for their DIY weekend.

Haverhill Rugby Club was also awarded £1,500 from the Rugby Football Union to help with the work. The DIY weekend is taking place on June 21 and 22.

For more information, contact David Halsey on 07971135269.

'We should all be looking out for each other on our roads'

A CAMPAIGN designed to educate cyclists and drivers about sharing the roads has been launched.

Let's Look Out for Each Other is being rolled out by Suffolk County Council, and a range of events and giveaways are taking place in various locations this summer.

Goliath, the Road Safe bus, will stop in Haverhill on July 31 as part of its tour.

Free blind-spot mirrors and bike bells will be given out, and tips for car drivers and cyclists on increasing awareness of each other will also be dished out.

The session is taking place on the Recreation Ground from 10am until 2.30pm.

Graham Newman, cabinet member for roads, planning and transport, said: "We must see each other as equal road users, each with responsibilities for sensible and safe behaviour. Cyclists are entitled to use roads with the same expectation of safety as a car or lorry driver takes for granted.

"With a growing number of cyclists taking to Suffolk's roads, we must continue to take the issue of cycle safety extremely seriously."

Twenty per cent of adults in Suffolk cycle at least once a month for any purpose or duration. The national average is 15 per cent.

Cyclists are being reminded to give clear signals to drivers, stay in sight and always use lights in the dark, or where visibility is poor.

Drivers have been asked to always look out for cyclists and, in turn, give clear signals and indications that they have seen a nearby cyclist while driving.

Events are also taking place in Bury St Edmunds, Felixstowe and Lowestoft – with further dates due to be announced soon.

For more information, visit suffolkroadsafe.net/cyclists or suffolkroadsafe.net/drivers.

CELEBRATING: The 60th birthday of Haverhill Art Group.

Diamond anniversary for artists

HAVERHILL Art Group has celebrated being active for 60 years.

The club unveiled a special exhibition at the Arts Centre last week, in honour of its milestone birthday.

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, and wife Pauline André attended the event, and won the evening's raffle.

Mrs André took home a pastel painting by artist Tim Fisher.

Bill Hubbuck, organiser, said: "The evening went very well with 30-odd guests."

Mr Hubbuck also thanked members Edna Stoakley, Mary Dunning and Val Bentham for keeping guests "fed and watered".

The exhibition is on until the end of June.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Tickets £15-£30 from (01223) 503333 / cambridgeartstheatre.purchase-tickets-online.co.uk

FRESH off the back of the divisive, incestuous and manic 'Tis Pity She's A Whore which came to Cambridge Arts Theatre in May (check out our review online at cambridge-news.co.uk/whatson), Cheek by Jowl theatre company are back this week with their "menacing, hilarious and anarchic" portrayal of the despot Ubu, first written by Alfred Jarry.

Known for their pace and wit and tongue in cheek attitude to classic – if troublesome – texts, the troupe's version of Ubu Roi is set to be similarly revolutionary.

Opening and closing on its first night when performed at Paris' Théâtre de l'Œuvre on December 10, 1896, the play blurs the lines between the comic, the bizarre and the downright surreal. It's bolshie and odd, surprising and unforgiving, designed to make you squirm as much as laugh, and sutures together plot line snippets from Macbeth, Hamlet and Lear while tugging on schoolboy tropes and silly jokes.

Suitable for over-16s (so it must be a tad racy/raucously violent if that intrigues you), the piece is performed entirely in French, but there will be English subtitles so you can keep up.

There also won't be an interval, so expect to leave rather wrung out, but hopefully pretty stunned to boot.

WIN tickets to see Katherine Jenkins

SUPERSTAR diva Katherine Jenkins OBE is performing at the Forestry Commission's Forest Live concert series at Thetford Forest in July.

Katherine Jenkins is the world's most prolific classical crossover artist.

In 2003 she signed the biggest-ever recording contract for a classical artist and has since become the premiere ambassador of bringing classical music to a mainstream audience. Her stratospheric rise made Katherine the fastest-selling mezzo-soprano ever.

To date, Katherine has released nine studio albums, all of which have sold in excess of seven million copies and gone platinum around the world.

She has received numerous awards for her recordings, including two Classical BRITS for the coveted Album of the Year Award. Due to international demand, Katherine spends much of her time touring the world. In 2013 alone she toured South Africa, the US, China, Japan, Abu Dhabi, and also continental Europe, cementing her position as one of the UK's greatest musical exports.

Her most recent accolade was an OBE in the 2014 New Year Honours List for services to music and charity, in particular, her work with the armed forces.

The concert will include a selection of Katherine's favourite works as well as classic proms repertoire. As part of Forest Live, Katherine Jenkins, with the National Symphony Orchestra, will have special guest Celeste.

To be in with a chance of winning a pair of tickets to see Katherine Jenkins on Saturday, July 12, simply answer the following question: With which orchestra will Katherine Jenkins perform at Forest Live? Send your answer, together with your name, address and daytime phone number to: Katherine Jenkins Competition, PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF, to arrive no later than Monday, July 8. Alternatively, you can email the answer, together with your details to competitions@cambridge-news.co.uk. Please put "Katherine Jenkins competition" in the subject box.

For tickets and further information call 03000 680400 or visit forestry.gov.uk/music.

As a bonus there will be tributes to Hank Marvin, Buddy Holly and Jerry Lee Lewis.

■ Football fans can see the ENGLAND v URUGUAY match on the big screen for free on Thursday 19 June at 8pm, and the Bar will be open to allow you to celebrate!

A question of compost

BAGS of old compost are still being sold in garden centres and DIY stores, with no indication of the date of production on the packaging, according to a report in the latest edition of Which? Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine.

The report follows up its findings last June that old stock was on sale, which manufacturers said was down to the previous year's poor summer. Yet the problem is still occurring, with researchers having found old stock of B&Q, Miracle-Gro, J Arthur Bower's and Westland compost being sold again.

Compost doesn't normally have a sell-by or use-by date on it, so consumers may have trouble distinguishing old stock from new.

But just how effective is old compost? Which? Gardening claims that the nutrients in compost can degrade over time, so using a compost that is more than a year or two old could prevent plants from thriving.

Guy Barter, chief horticultural adviser with the RHS, says that certainly organic potting compost deteriorates with time.

"Any organic fertilisers incorporated in the compost will break down over time and the soluble nutrients will become too salty and strong which could damage the roots of young plants.

"Potting composts have been formulated to have lots of air in them because roots need to breathe, just like humans. As the compost ages, the air space declines and roots find it difficult to grow because of lack of air in the compost."

He says non-organic composts are less likely to be affected by age because the nutrients will almost certainly be in the form of chemicals, which aren't broken down so quickly.

Which? Gardening wants manufacturers to make it easier for consumers to see when the compost they buy was made – for example by printing a production date on the packaging. When it suggested this to the industry body Growing Media Association (GMA), it said: "GMA members believe they manage stock well. If consumers are dissatisfied with the quality of their compost, they should take it up with the retailer."

David Coop, head of technical development for Westland

Horticulture, says: "Ideally, we would advise gardeners to use compost within the season of purchase.

"However, we are confident that Westland compost would be stable and consistent the following year if stored correctly in a cool, dry place, away from direct sunshine. This is because we use ingredients such as peat and our patented West+ wood fibre in our composts, which are stable, consistent and reliable products, which don't break down quickly."

by Hannah Stephenson

A spokesman for Sinclair Horticulture, which manufactures J Arthur Bower's compost, says: "Sinclair Horticulture's retail composts are formulated to have a long shelf-life. Any deterioration is gradual and the product remains efficacious for at least two years as long as it is stored well (ie fully wrapped).

"We encourage garden centres to rotate their stock but we have no control over this. Should the consumer buy discounted older compost, we would advise them to keep an eye on their plants and be prepared to start their fertiliser regime slightly earlier if their plants show any signs of nutrient deficiency."

However, Barter notes that it would be difficult and costly for gardeners to prove that the compost they used had caused the poor performance of plants. They'd probably need to employ a specialist company to analyse the compost.

"When you see compost for sale, you assume it will do what it says on the bag. But if it's been in a retail outlet for a long time, it may have deteriorated."

So, what should we be looking for when buying what we deem to be fresh compost?

"Go to outlets which have a high turnover where there doesn't appear to be old stock," Barter advises. "If the bags are looking stained or weather-worn, perhaps you should think about shopping elsewhere."

When you open the bag, the contents should feel fluffy and fibrous, not wet and heavy. Compost may seem hard because it's been stacked on a pallet but it should fluff up pretty easily.

However, it is possible to use old compost as an effective soil improver when winter digging or just to use as a mulch to conserve moisture and suppress weeds, says Barter, so you could bag a bargain if you see any old stock in the sale.

And if anyone has a partially-used bag of compost left over from a previous year, mix it 50:50 with fresh compost and use it to raise young bedding plants or young vegetables, he advises.

AS preparations reach the final stages, organisers of the Two Counties Motor Show, to be held at the Rowley Mile Racecourse in Newmarket on Sunday, June 29, have unveiled an exciting schedule of exhibitors including a world-famous supercar, a UK exhibition premiere, and several award-winning attractions.

Now in its 14th year, the Two Counties Motor Show promises a wide range of attractions and with just a few weeks to go before the show, there are still a few surprises planned for the day itself. Here's a taster of what's in store:

Lancaster Toyota (Cambridge)

- A very rare, very special Lexus LFA. One of the most expensive Japanese road cars ever built at a staggering £350,000.
- A Toyota Hilux which

THE SPECIAL ONE: The Toyota Hilux used by the 'Top Gear' team, above, on the Hilux Arctic Challenge will be at Rowley Mile on June 29

Jeremy Clarkson and James May took to the North Pole for the Hilux Arctic Challenge in 2007, as featured on the Top Gear show.

Duxford Motor Group

- Citroen DS3 by Benefit – a definite one for the ladies! Created from a partnership between Citroen and the hugely popular
- Citroen C4 Picasso, Top Gear magazine's Family Car of the Year, 2013, boasting a surprisingly fresh, modern and futuristic design

- Mitsubishi Outlander PHEV – the only plug-in hybrid SUV with 4 wheel drive is available on the UK market today. Officially launched in the UK a few days ago.

Cambridge Subaru

- The recently launched Subaru WRX STI 2014. A performance car boasting a 2.5-litre, 305bhp engine, it will be a sure-fire hit with men and the younger car-savvy audience

■ Subaru XV: a smaller crossover, aimed at young and active families, marketed as the all-wheel, all-adventure vehicle

As well as car dealerships, there will be plenty of classic car clubs in attendance, including:

- Sporting Bears Motor Club. Impressively, they have raised more than £1,000,000 for children charities to date.
  - Ferrari Owners of East Anglia
  - Tiger/Westfield Owners Club
  - ICENI Custom American and Rods Club (The ICENI C.A.R. Club) – American muscle cars and hot rods
- More at twocountiesmotorshow.co.uk for details, or Twitter @The_MotorShow. Tickets priced at £5 can be bought at the gate.

KenYuKan secure medals at nationals

DAVID Parker led the way for Haverhill's KenYuKan Dojo with medals in both the individual and team events at the British National Iaido Championships.

Parker won gold with the sword in the third dan competition and added to that with a bronze in the second dan Jodo event.

He also took bronze when competing with the dojo's parent club from Stevenage as their three-man team came third in the Asahi Cup.

Dojo leader Martin Clark lost out on countback by one point to fellow British team member and eventual tournament winner Tony Devine in the sword competition, taking bronze and the fighting spirit award.

Clark was taking part in his 18th Nationals in 20 years of competition and was also on the referees' panel for the lower grade divisions.

Tecwyn Lee's first competition saw him finish with a bronze and narrowly missed out on the fighting spirit award.

However, fellow debutant Peter Cunderlik was eliminated in the toughest group of the first dan tournament.

Brian Tott rounded off the day by taking the fighting spirit award in the fifth dan division.

Blackjacks are too strong for Raptors

HAVERHILL Blackjacks maintained their 100 per cent record in British Baseball Federation, A South Division, with a 30-20 victory at home to Herts Raptors.

Blackjacks made it six wins on the spin despite going 4-0 down at the top of the first innings and trailing 8-2 after the second, their runs coming from Alan Symons and Dylan Shephard.

But Haverhill blasted six runs in the third innings to draw level, the highlights being a pair of two RBI doubles for both Shephard and debutant Carlos Bolivar.

Raptors responded by scoring six runs at the top of the fourth, but it only served to spur the hosts on as they clinched 13 runs, the whole line-up scoring at least one run along the way, including another first-timer in Alex Knight.

Steven Fuentes replaced Daniel Becking on the mound and his unusually wild pitching allowed Herts to walk in four of their six runs in the fifth while Blake Broekhoven scored Blackjacks' only run of the innings as they had their lead stripped back to 22-20.

But Haverhill stepped it up again with seven runs in the sixth innings, Symons and Shephard collecting their fifth runs of the game.

Fuentes kept the visitors scoreless in the seventh before Marcus Gooday claimed his fourth run to earn the hosts victory on the mercy rule. Blackjacks now face The Old Timers on Sunday.
